CERTIFICATE OF PLACEMENT - WASHINGTON

Under Washington insurance law, a child who has been legally placed with you for the purpose of adoption is covered under your Regence BlueCross BlueShield of Oregon (Regence BCBSO) policy with available family coverage from the date of placement. The date of "placement" means the first day that you, as the primary insured, have both physical custody and financial responsibility for the support and care of the child.

A child legally placed with you for adoption will be covered for 60 days upon written notice of legal placement. In order to continue coverage beyond the first 60 days, you must send a new application along with any applicable premium and proof of legal placement on a timely basis. As proof of legal placement, we request that you complete the information below to indicate the circumstances of placement. Please submit this certificate and a copy of any placement agreement with your Regence BCBSO application to add the child to your coverage.
